> XLVI. CONGRESS. SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 23. Senator Beck (Ky) said it appeared from record that the joint resolution passed yesterday by the house ac-cepted the desk of Thomas Jeffer-son in the name of the United States, while that passed by the Senate accepted it in the name of the nation. He hoped that the house resolution would be the one sent to the donors.

The vice president stated that but one resolution had been passednamely, the one originating in the house. If the record showed differ-ently, it was a typographical error. On motion of Senator Maxey (Tex.) the post route bill was taken up, read the third time and passed. The senate then resumed consideration of the resolution declaring

Spofford entitled to the seat now occupied by Senator Kellogg. Senator Bailey (Tenn.) spoke in support of the resolutions, arguing that the Kellogg-Spofford contest, although it had been once passed upon by the senate, was not res adjudicata in such sense that it could not be reopened. The decisions the senate were political, not judicial, and the senate was not bound by the rules and methods of courts. It was bound only rels contains a double load of duck by principles of honor and justice.
